

Nothing to Wonder At!

Some people are wondering why it is that we do the bulk of the lumber business, not only here in our city, but for miles around. Surely there is nothing strange about it, nothing to wonder at. That quality and assortment of our stock is proof enough for that.

As a matter of fact we have a large and well assorted stock, including building materials of all kinds and our record for giving our customers good goods and a square deal is one we have a right to be proud of. That's the only bid we have for your business. We will give you the best of everything at the very lowest prices and that is all any body can do. Let us figure with you on anything you way want in our line, and LISTEN if you need any GOOD OLD WHITE PINE remember we have it.

Brunswick Lumber and Implement Company

Brunswick Mo.

Eccles Echoes.

Homer Gee departed last Sunday for Iowa.

Ulyster Embree took dinner Sunday at J. C. Medlin's.

John Medlin made a business trip to Keytesville Monday.

Rev. E. Patton filled his appointment at Pee Dee Saturday night and Sunday, preaching to large crowds; especially Sunday night, at which time the church was completely filled. He will again preach there the third Saturday night and Sunday in December.

The Bazaar.

The ladies will again have their annual bazaar

On the 15th day of December, Nineteen Ten.

They expect to excel anything they ever had by far. And they will convince you if you only attend.

The men are expected liberal donations to make

Of wheat, potatoes, cabbage, turnips or corn.

And the highest bidder this produce will take.

The money thus received will help the good works go on.

The ladies will serve dinner of turkey and ham

Vegetables, salads and things that are nice.

Pies, cakes and perhaps a little jam

A great big dinner for such a little price.

Now you are invited. A hearty welcome you'll get

Only decide to come and we will let

You partake of the good things the ladies make

So do not forget the place or the date.

Christian church, Dec. 15, 1910 Price 25 cents.

Tragic Aerial Death.

Ralph Johnstone the Kansas City Aviator, who held the world's record for highest flight, met the most tragic death in aerial history last Thursday in an accident at Overland park at Denver. With one wing of his biplane bent and broken, Johnstone fell from a height of 500 feet into the aviation field and was killed, his back, neck and both legs being broken and nearly every other bone in his body was crashed.

His body lay beneath the engine of the biplane and human for ghouls fought with each other mementos of the ghastly occasion. They tore the gloves from the dead birdman's hands and one man even tore away a jagged wooden stay that had thrust its end almost through Johnstone's body and carried the splinter off, dripping with the aviator's blood.

Johnstone had risen in a second flight and had gone through the usual program of dips and glides with his machine under perfect control, starting on his spiral glide something inexplicable happened and the biplane gave away on the left side. In spite of his plucky attempt to right it by working the other side, it turned turtle and crashed to the earth.

Mrs. Ida Blake's residence in Cunningham township was entirely destroyed by fire caused from a defective flue Tuesday morning. The dwelling and contents were burned. There was no insurance.
